

Colorado Celebration of Women In Computing

November 4-5, 2010

Event

The second Colorado Celebration of Women in Computing (CCWIC) will be a regional meeting in Golden, Colorado. We hope that you can join us and our community of students, faculty, and computing professionals as we work to increase the participation of women in computing.

We encourage undergraduate and graduate students with interests in computing to attend and also to submit original work. We invite faculty and professional leaders to come meet and mentor the next generation of computing professionals.

Participate

Students and professionals in academia, industry, and labs can participate by:

- Submitting a full paper or poster abstract for presentation (students only)
- Submitting a brief abstract for a 5-minute lightning talk
- Submitting any topic for group discussion (Birds of a Feather session)
- Attending the conference to meet others and explore topics such as careers, graduate study, work/life integration, etc.

Professionals can share their experiences with students as panelists or in informal interactions. You are encouraged to bring information about your company, industry or programs.
